Cancellation Announcement for the
NCLB: American Indian Education Symposium
Scheduled for January 10-11, 2007 at
Prior Lake, Minnesota

We regret to inform you that the NCLB: American Indian Education Symposium has been canceled. While we realize the importance of such an event, we simply could not justify the costs based on the extremely low number of registrants. We will, however, continue working with other organizations to support similar activities being planned for the near future. Please pass this information along to your co-workers and associates.

Refunds will be processed by the Office of Conference Services during the week of December 18 for all participants who have paid registration fees. OCS will forward documentation to you once the refunds are completed.
